Bragging Writes

We take pride in the things that Commonwealth Honors College students, faculty, and staff are doing. Read all about these things here!

Brianna Johnson Makes a Way
Local television station WWLP-22News recently reported on the philanthropic work of The Brianna Fund. On January 15, hundreds of sponsors, donors, and supporters joined... Read More

Undergraduate Research Funding
Lions and tigers and bears may be of concern to Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz, but at UMass Amherst junior animal science /pre-veterinary major Ekaterina Shaikouskaya has her... Read More

Students to Mark 25th Anniversary of MLK Day
January 17, 2011, marks the 25th anniversary of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. federal holiday, which has become known as "a day on, not a day off." UMass Amherst... Read More

Author encourages life on the edges
Invited by Commonwealth Honors College, writer Anne Fadiman visited the UMass Amherst campus on September 20, 2010. She spoke about her book The Spirit Catches You and You Fall... Read More

Welcome Lasting Friendships
Arrive at residence hall. Tote lamps, books, blankets and other essentials to your room. Meet students and families from all corners of New England. Check in for Commonwealth... Read More

Family Weekend a Success
High energy and enthusiasm filled the Cape Cod Lounge during the reception held for Commonwealth Honors College students and their families as part of the campus's annual Family... Read More
Cranes for Cancer Awareness
Each year, as part of national Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Commonwealth Honors College students fold 1,000 paper cranes, an ancient Japanese origami pattern symbolizing health... Read More

Dr. Coren reveals how dogs think Award-winning behavioral researcher Dr. Stanley Coren expanded the minds of college psychology majors and dog lovers alike on October 19 in the Student Union Ballroom with his... Read More

Citizen Scholars visit State House
Massachusetts State Representative Ellen Story hosted students in their second year of the Citizen Scholars Program at the State House in Boston on October 12. A program of... Read More

Honors students clean up CT river
Students of Commonwealth Honors College's Community Engagement Program participated in the Connecticut River Watershed Council’s “Source to Sea Cleanup” on Saturday, October 2... Read More

Cranes promote cancer awareness
Students, faculty, staff, and even local media all crowded the Commonwealth Honors College lounge on October 12 to enjoy some light refreshments, good company, and to marvel at... Read More

A formula for success
“I wouldn’t have done my undergraduate career any differently,” Cornelius Taabazuing remarks with pleasure. He recalls getting a phone call inviting him to participate in Emerging... Read More

Drawing Conclusions
The Capstone Experience (CE) is a comprehensive, research-intensive thesis or project of original scholarship. Typically completed in the senior year, it is a chance for honors...

Cooking Up Some Good
As a junior, Tiffany Tai '12 helped create "Iron Chef Contest: Cooking up Some Good," a cooking competition modeled on the popular reality TV show Iron Chef. The event, held at...

Getting Ahead in Math and in Life
After only one year on campus, Dan Ganz is already preparing to leave. When the 18-year-old senior is not in class or working in the lab, he is studying for the medical college...

Sign of the Times
Billboards featuring alumna Stacey Whitbourne '00 are now appearing in New York Times Square and the Las Vegas Strip. Neither an actor promoting a new stageplay nor a model...

On Track with Honors
While some students end their day when classes are finished, public health and business management major Caroline Conena '13 is only beginning hers. Conena, of Coaching for Success
Commonwealth Honors College has introduced The Leader and the Coach, a one-credit, seven-week seminar for students interested in leadership. The course, offered by the College's...

Taking the Bite Out of Ticks
Ashley Bono of Medway, Massachusetts, fell in love with bacteria in a sophomore introductory microbiology course. As a senior, she put her fascination to work on a capstone...

Source URL (retrieved on 10/23/2018 - 5:11pm):
https://www.honors.umass.edu/bragging-writes?page=23