We take pride in the things that Commonwealth Honors College students, faculty, and staff are doing. Read all about these things here!

Introducing CHC PATHS
The registration process may have just become the easiest part of a student's independent research project. In the past, students voiced concerns about the difficulties of... [Read More]

Seuss Project Launches
A new collaboration has been launched between Commonwealth Honors College and the Springfield Museums. The Seuss Project begins in the Spring 2016 semester with the new... [Read More]

Art and the City
In recreating the UMass Campus Center's Civility Mural, Honors Professor John Simpson and the students in his course HONORS 221H: "The Springfield Renaissance: Art and the City"... [Read More]
Rocket Team Takes Off
It’s March 16, 2015—a frigid Sunday morning. Two feet of snow and heavy, wet slush covers the frozen ground, and the cloud cover is thick. It’s not going to be easy to launch a... Read More

Junior Takes Second at Project Green Challenger
Junior Marina Qutab took second place in Turning Green’s Project Green Challenger, a national competition that asked college and high school students to make their lives more... Read More

Recognizing Rising Researchers
UMass Amherst recognizes student researchers for making their mark on a variety of academic communities. This year Commonwealth Honors College students Aaron Dunbrack ’17, Thomas... Read More

Fulbright: A Launch Pad to Success
"I was the first American many of the people in this small town had met," Alina Lindblom ’11 described of her yearlong experience as a Fulbright English Teaching Assistant in the... Read More
#MyDayInCHC with Stephanie
On Wednesday, December 2, CHC Photographer Stephanie Berenson took us on another day through her life as a CHC student, showing us some beautiful shots of the campus... Read More

The Two Cultures Debate Revisited
The British writer and scientist C.P. Snow wrote that there is “a gulf of incomprehension” separating the sciences and the humanities. On November 17, Professor Banu Subramanian... Read More

Pizza and Prof: Erik Cheries
In a Pizza & Prof presented on November 9, Erik Cheries, Assistant Professor of Psychological and Brain Sciences, discussed the origins of moral intuitions. Cheries is the... Read More

A One-of-a-Kind Course
"Would Gandhi have had a Twitter account?" During a typical "Ideas That Change the World" class, Professor Kathleen Brown-Pérez facilitates discussion by asking such unexpected... Read More CHC Student Bloggers!
Check out the latest Honors InSight blog entries.

Teaching Teamwork
“GOOOOOAAAAL!” Cheers and shouts erupt from the sidelines at every soccer game, but none of them louder than Bao “Terry” Cao. A first-year student and coach for the Amherst Youth... Read More

National Scholarships Office Hosts Statewide Workshop
Susan Whitbourne, director of the Office of National Scholarship Advisement (ONSA), is hosting a workshop for Massachusetts public colleges and universities about developing a... Read More

#MyDayInCHC with Serena Pang
On Thursday, November 12, CHC Photographer Serena Pang took over the CHC Instagram to share what the day in a life of a CHC student is really like. Tomorrow... Read More
A psychology and BDIC major in international marketing and public relations, CHC photographer Serena Pang loves to explore campus and share her stories through photos. Today she...

#MyDayInCHC with Stephanie
On Wednesday, November 4, CHC Photographer Stephanie Berenson took over the CHC Instagram to share what the day in a life of a CHC student is really like. ...

A Professor's Poem
Poem: Bus-Ride in a Bottle By Connolly Ryan, Senior Lecturer
On the bus to Northampton from Amherst, I was sitting across from an old man with the wrecked blue eyes of a...

Global Voices of Women Writers
Three women writers from the International Writing Program at the University of Iowa visited the Commonwealth Honors College on November 3, reading samples of their work and...
BDIC Alumnae Share Advice

On October 21, 2015, the Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration (BDIC) program sponsored a lecture by two UMass Amherst graduates who shared their stories with BDIC... Read More

Source URL (retrieved on 04/21/2018 - 5:24am):
https://www.honors.umass.edu/bragging-writes?page=6