An Act of Parliament in 1953 established the Marshall Scholarships to commemorate the ideals of the European Recovery Program best known as the Marshall Plan established by U.S. General George Marshall in 1947. The idea behind the Marshall Scholarship was to build on the Rhodes Scholarships established by a private bequest a half-century earlier. The Marshall would extend the Rhodes Scholarship idea and apply it, without distinction of gender and with a wider age range, to any university in the United Kingdom. The Scholarship allows graduate students to study at any university in the United Kingdom for 2-3 years in any field of study. It is intended for students who wish to “make a difference” in the world through their careers. Approximately 30-35 are given each year.
