Contemporary Topics Honors RAPs are located in Oak Hall and Sycamore Hall, both in the Commonwealth Honors College Residential Area.

Contemporary Topics is a category of Honors RAPs, each consisting of 18 students enrolled in two shared courses. Each Contemporary Topics Honors RAP includes a course that has a focus on a specific subject, and will emphasize thematic topics in the news, paired with a course that explores progress and change. Both classes satisfy first-year requirements and are designed for students in any major. All students in this program live together on the same floor, and are required to be roommates with others in this program. Specific thematic areas will be available in April.

Honors 201H - Commonwealth Honors Seminar - Ideas that Change the World

In this interdisciplinary, discussion-based seminar, students will examine innovative thinkers, groundbreaking ideas, and the strategies that transform these ideas into effective actions.

The course explores dilemmas addressed by the sciences, the arts, and the humanities. In each of these broad areas, the course focuses on questions about human nature, the sources of our knowledge, and the application of that knowledge to the solving of perennial and contemporary problems. The semester begins with inquiries into the nature of truth, of particular relevance in our era of debates over “alternative facts.” Then the course considers ongoing problems of violence, injustice, and environmental crisis. Our inquiries will establish a dialogue between past and present as we examine historical figures such as W.E.B. Du Bois, Rachel Carson, along with present-day innovators such as Temple Grandin and the Dalai Lama.
