CHC Comment Policy

Commonwealth Honors College at UMass Amherst encourages interactions between bloggers and readers and among blog readers themselves. Neither Commonwealth Honors College nor the University of Massachusetts Amherst is responsible for comments made by visitors to the blog. In addition, comments posted do not reflect the opinions or policies of the Honors College or the University.

Commonwealth Honors College requests that people making comments on the blog respect fellow users by maintaining civil discussions. We reserve the right, and assume no obligation, to remove comments that are deemed inappropriate including, but not limited to racist, sexist, abusive, profane, violent, obscene, spam, or posts that advocate illegal activity, destruction of property, contain falsehoods, are completely off topic, or that libel, incite, threaten or viciously attack UMass students, employees, alumni, guests, or other individuals or groups.

We also do not permit comments selling products or promoting commercial, political, or other entities unless directly related to the topic(s) in the post and are approved by blog administrators.
