Hey CHC, how well do you really know Thanksgiving? Take our quiz and find out!

Where did the pilgrims land?

A. Born to Rock.

B. Fraggle Rock.

C. The Big Rock Candy Mountains.

D. Trick question, they didn’t land anywhere! They were launched into space by King James I and are still orbiting the Earth.

What did the pilgrims celebrate on the first Thanksgiving?

A. Monster trucks.

B. Their bffs the Native Americans.

C. Not being dead.

D. Pie.

What is the best Thanksgiving food?

A. Pie.
Why does the President pardon a turkey each year?

A. They were friends in high school. Well, not like real friends, but they knew each other and were friends on Facebook so it would just be sort of awkward if he didn’t.
B. He just feels like it.
C. Peer pressure.
D. So he can finally have a friend he can beat at checkers.

Who is the hero of Thanksgiving?

A. Batman.
B. Bruce Wayne.
C. Why, Trevor the Turkey of course! A monstrous creature standing 10 stories high with blood-red eyes and razor-sharp talons whose terrible cry can be heard from every corner of the land. Each year he selects one city to demolish, leaving nothing but rubble, misery and feathers in his wake. His reign of terror lasts all Thanksgiving Day, and if your city has never had a visit from him I suggest you start reinforcing your fallout shelter now.
D. Adam West.

What are you thankful for this Thanksgiving?

A. The good health and happiness of those you love, the fact that you are able to enjoy a delicious meal surrounded by family and friends while there are some people much less fortunate than yourself who aren’t able to, and the good things you see for yourself just beyond the horizon (yawn).
B. Global warming. Peace out, polar bears!
C. Ca$h money.
D. Pie.

Please circle your answers in cranberry sauce and send them to CHC via (live) turkey.

Happy Thanksgiving, everybody!